Green is the new black: How to invest in the green revolution

Sustainable and renewable energy has become a focus for a world increasingly conscious of the impact of fossil fuels. While the growth in renewable energy is exciting, have you ever thought about what it means for the broader supply chain?

In this webinar, we discussed:

- The growth of renewable energy and the supply chain required to support it.
- The future of battery technology, and
- How to use ETFs to express your views and values.
